Description: This cat has been roaming around my corner of the Ashley Park apartments for at least a few weeks, perhaps longer. It looks like they have on a collar this is partially draped over their shoulder, like the cat got one arm through the collar somehow. The collar has a little bell on it, but no tag that I could discern. I know that someone out there is missing this cat!

Edit: this is only a sighting, but I see this cat very often near my apartment building.
