Description: Lost Dog FOUND - Currently with Durham Animal Protection Society

On the way home from work in RTP I saw this very good girl wandering the side of the road. I pulled off to see if she would stay by me and she did; stayed right beside me while I called animal services and she even waited until the deputy arrived. Deputy confirmed she has a microchip, so someone has lost this dog.

I found her near the intersection of TW Alexander and Cornwallis, just a short hop down the road from the heart of RTP. (Here is a google maps pin of the exact location I found her:

She is currently en route to Durham Animal Protection Society (APS). The deputy said that if the chip is not registered, they will report her missing and basically hope the owners contact them, so I'm sharing here to spread awareness. If this is your pup, please call Durham APS at (919) 560-0640
